finova Payment and Mortgage Services today announces a new partnership with real estate finance and investment platform TAB, further expanding its portfolio of lending products available to finova's directly authorised (DA) broker club. The partnership brings the total number of Lenders on panel for finova's mortgage club to over 90.

Through this new partnership, finova's brokers will have access to a range of first and second charge residential and commercial bridging loans, development and refurbishment finance products all through TAB's innovative technology solutions.

Founded in 2018, TAB offers opportunities for clients with property projects that do not fit within the constraints of traditional lenders' criteria. Through the TAB platform, members will be able to access a wide range of lending options and compare mortgage products.

TAB is joining the mortgages clubs panel of over 90+ lenders covering all areas of the market, including standard mortgages, specialist and niche lending products, including residential, buy-to-let, second charge, commercial and development, and equity release.

We are thrilled to announce the partnership between finova Payment and Mortgage Services and TAB. "This collaboration underscores our commitment to championing innovation and leveraging new technology to empower brokers. Our members can now access a broader range of specialised products from TAB, further enhancing their ability to meet the diverse needs of their clients. "January surpassed expectations for business, and with TAB's products and solutions now available, members have the opportunity to service their clients with faster turnaround at all times of year

We are delighted to partner with finova Payment and Mortgage Services to make our innovative lending solutions available to their extensive network of directly authorised brokers. This collaboration will significantly expand the range of specialised products brokers can access, empowering them to better serve clients with diverse needs. With finova's impressive growth and reach, we are thrilled that TAB's solutions can now be leveraged by even more brokers to deliver efficient, customised lending.
